

Human energy tech

Energy systems are a bit like iPads or smartphones. It is claimed that this revolutionary insight is at the heart of Divine Empowerment. Various 'deeply nurturing energy frequencies' can be up-loaded into our human software just like we install apps, according to this system. Antonia Harman (pictured above) takes us through what it's all about.

Most of us are perfectly happy installing apps – apps that make funny voices or games – and we often get excited like kids clicking on them when the mood takes us. Divine Empowerment can do the same, claim its adherents. Human energy tech, that's all it is, they say. In two minutes an energy app can be installed into any human system: to benefit all we need do is click. Clicking is dead simple – say the name of the energy and then 'Go'.

This very magazine has now gone digital. It is the age of the computer, the age of technology. Everything is easily accessible, quick and speedy. The same has happened in healing. What took years to learn before can now be done in minutes.

This rapid change makes many people feel overwhelmed. We carry a great deal of stress, which not only causes lots of misery but can also heighten any latent illness. Some of the energies used in Divine Empowerment offer the chance to experience the blessings of meditation and profound inner healing in just a few minutes – for example 'grounding' and 'centring'.

Once installed, all we need to do is consciously call upon the energy and we drop into a peaceful meditative state. It sounds too easy, too good to be true, however, the world has moved forward. In this crazy place in which so many people are desperately in need of inner peace, compassion and healing, this new program offers a really simple and effective solution. Five minutes of passive channelling while pottering around has the effect of 20 minutes dedicated meditation.

My clients are also very happy to use 'Energetic Aspirin' – a natural pain killer that works within seconds. It frees us from exposure to harmful toxins that chemical pain killers contain. Simply the intention of running the energy will help you to switch out of severe pain. This app is also fantastic for headaches, toothaches, back-pain or menstrual cramps.

How would you like to avoid or heal coughs and colds? I live in London, England, where it is freezing most of the time, especially of late. Lots of people have flu or some sort of virus that makes them sneeze, gives them a runny nose and even sends them to bed. I have not had any such problems since 2007, although I have obviously had exposure to plenty of sick people in such a large city. There is a 'Virus Buster' app available which is what I use.

The trick is to attack the virus as soon as you are exposed – when you are around sick people or notice that you are feeling a bit under the weather. All we need do is run the virus buster app, simply say 'Virus buster go' in our mind, let it run for a few minutes and these annoying illnesses can be obliterated before they take hold.

On the course we have 40 or so energetic apps installed. Whether you are a veteran healer or a novice, this energy is accessible to all – to be used on ourselves, our friends, and our clients. Possibly the most amazing part of Divine Empowerment is that the energy wants to spread, to bring light and oneness. This means that no less than 50% of the energies installed at the workshop can then be taught by the students who attend.

There are many more energies installed at the workshop:

- 'Ying-Yang' and 'Compassion' which help to clear emotional issues.
- 'Chakra Blaster', which starts to bring chakras into their true nature, plus a Tantric Meditation which allows us to merge energetically with a partner.
- We also learn to dowse with a pendulum.

The workshop is profoundly transformative, it has nothing to do with belief systems, rather the opportunity to become empowered, to master your life, to deepen your spiritual journey, and to benefit from the latest evolution in healing.

Learn to relax deeply, clear viruses, numb pain, bulldoze through emotional trauma, gain physical strength, energise and self-heal. Then share these apps with friends and loved ones, simply and effectively. □
